and the former crown prince she said pathetically.

There is a splendld maxim to your language. Don't hit a man when he is down. Let us preserve this sporting trinciple during our conversation.

Asked why she had left Germany as soon as that country began military operations, the grand duchess said.

I could not remain in a country which had declared war on my own country—Russia. This war came as a great surprise to me and my son 'Frederick Franz IV, grand duke of Meckienburg-Schwerin, who abducated several weeks ago, although we were in constant touch with the royal families of Germany. Russia and Jenmark. It has been said that not more than 20 persons in Germany understood what a cruel instake it was going to be. I was one of them. However, as I never meddled in politics and never intend to I was not able to interfere.—But I continue to tunns that Germany made a great blumler in entering this terrible struggle, not only from a humane point of view, but also for political and commercial reasons as her commerce was prosperous. Now she has lost all. Germany should re-create a political, financial and artistic nation by openly admitting:

continered was prosperous. Now she has lost all. Germany should re-create a political, financial and artistic nation by openly admitting:

"We acted wrongly; we are sorry."

The grand duchess said she had news from her daughter, the former crown princess, since September except through a letter from her eldest daughter, the queen of Denmark, saying both of them were well. She made an appeal for the country of her birth, saying: "If the alites abandon Russia, Russia is lost. The alites de not seem to understand the situation clearly. About its per cent of the Russians have respect for only two things, God and the Cuar. The pearants now say; We have no cuar, whom shad we obey.

BLUE WARNS AGAINST FLU FIGHT RELAXATION

WASHINGTON, Dec 17.—The danger of relaxing efforts to check the spread of influenza was emphasized again today by Surgeon-Gen. Blue, of the public health service,

"The epidemic is not ended," the surgeon-general said. "Any statement at present that the epidemic has worse and gone for good, can only do harm, for it will full people into a false sense of security and cause them to relax precautions they should take."

Postmaster-General Declares Government Can , Acquire Wire Systems Without Cost to Public Treasury.

Washington, Dec. 17 Ownership the government of the telegraph and WASHINGTON. Dec. 17—Ownership by the government of the telegraph and telephone systems of the nation was characterized as "imperative" by Postmaster-General Buricson Monday in a letter to Representative Mone, chairman of the house committee on postoffices and postroads. Burleson said the system can be acquired "without the appropriation of a dolar from the public treasury" by applying to an amortisation fund for 25 years the savings made under government ownership through elimination of duplications in plants and operating expenses.

In support of the government ownership resolution introduced in the house last week by Bepresentative Moon, the postmaster-general quoted from the recent letter of Theodore N. Vall, president of the American Telegraph and Telephone company and from the annual reports of a number of the postmastera-general since the Civil war, all of whom agreed, he said, that government control or ownership would greatly contribute to the efficiency of the service.

Public Must Pay.

"The economic importance of the proposition to acquire the properties by the government is very great." Burleson wrote. "Trivate capital is invested in public enterprises with the expectation of 7 to 8 per cent, and often pectation of 7 to 8 per cent, and often a greater return upon the investment. This, of course, the public is expected to pay while the government can borrow money at 45 per cent. The public, however, pays the charge in either event. The difference between 45 per cent and 8 per cent for the money invested in the wire systems of the United States would maintain and pay for the property in 18 years and 9 months. The government as owner would no The government as owner would no more expect to charge for interest on the investment than it would for money invested in postal facilities, havy yards or other public property.

As justification for the permanent laking over of the wire systems, Burleyen said.

son said:

"To establish and maintain communication is as much the function of the government as is the provision for national defense." "Moreover it is essential to the development of the country and to the progress and prosperity of its people. It is a defense of the national interests as much in peace as in war. Extension of the wire service should be determined by public needs, not the opportunity for private gain."

To Eliminate Waste. To Eliminate Waste.

The postmaster general said he be-lieved that an effective plan could be worked out by which the waste of com-petition can be eliminated and the ad-vantages of private initiative in re-search, investigation and experimenta-tion not be lost.

search, investigation and experimentation not be lost.

Calling attention to the fact that under existing law the telephone and telegraph properties will automatically revert to the orivate owners upon prociamation by the president of a state of peace, the letter says that many of the independent companies could not take back the properties without serious loss to the investors and great detriment to the service. Many of these companies, the letter says, were operating at a loss owing to the waste incident to competition and diversity of state regulation, and as proper depreciation funds have not been set aside, the properties were drifting into a condition where reoper public service could not be rendered.
